

Stephan Durach

Senior Vice President, Connected Company Development, Technical Operations, BMW Group

After graduating in electrical engineering at the Technical University of Karlsruhe, Stephan Durach joined BMW Group in Munich in 1998.

He started his career in software processes and methods and ran various departments in the Electronics division. In 2008 he became Head of the Technology Office in Palo Alto/Mountain View. Upon returning to BMW headquarters in 2011, Durach took over the department for Entertainment, Mobile Devices and App Centers before leading Electronics in the product line for luxury class BMW. He joined the Purchasing and Supplier Network division in 2015, leading the purchasing for Information and Communications electronics and ConnectedDrive. In 2015, he extended his responsibility to the complete electric/electronic portfolio with the BMW Group.

From 2017 to 2020, Durach was Senior Vice President, Purchasing and Supplier Network Digital at BMW Group. Since October 2020, he has returned to the Development Department as Senior Vice President, Connected Company Development, Technical Operations.